Hi Dave,

Managing four retail Instagram accounts is not just a posting job. The hard part is keeping volume steady while getting real staff UGC from the stores, especially with 15 feed posts and 100+ stories per month per account.

I think the account owner matters less than the operating system behind them: calendar, prompts, approvals, ads, DM paths, and weekly reporting tied to qualified leads.

The short plan is below the note, including the 90-day system, content engine, reporting rhythm, and cost, so you can judge fit from the page.
