Hello Axisera Health team,

Forge already has the hard visual pieces: product renders, logo suite, palette, typography, and photography. The real job is turning that into an Instagram and TikTok launch presence without Axisera having to post internally.

My plain opinion: this should be treated less like hiring one social media freelancer and more like installing a small launch desk for content, compliance, scheduling, comments, DMs, and reporting.

The page below shows the zero-to-launch system I would run for Forge, including the 30-post launch batch, FDA/FTC copy control, and the ongoing path after Phase 1.
