Hi Ugo,

Growing a waitlist for an early-stage family travel app is not just a traffic problem. The harder part is finding parents and families who are actually launch-relevant, then knowing which source brought them in.

My plain opinion: on a bootstrapped budget, U-GoTrip should test channels and conversion together, with source tracking in place from day one.

The page covers the first fixes, the 90-day execution plan, and the cost so you can judge fit quickly.
