

10 September

Hi Michelle,

You are hiring for a Creative Strategist who can own research, concepts, data, and growth for Lumin, not just write ad ideas.

My plain opinion: at five creative batches a week, this is less about finding one smart person and more about building a reliable creative operating system around the customer, the comments, the editors, and the numbers.

A short plan is below this note, including how TGE would compare against the in-house hire path.

Allen