Hi Micah,

KSNN needs participation in a youth athlete competition, not just social visibility. The hard part is reaching athletes, parents, coaches, clubs, leagues, schools, and youth sports organizations without wasting a tight budget.

I think the strategy has to rank channels by submission potential first, then content volume second. Instagram matters, but so do grassroots partners, newsletters, communities, and the places KSNN should avoid.

The page breaks down the plan, first actions, execution, pricing, and how I would measure qualified leads so you can judge fit quickly.
