Hi John,

You are not looking for someone to post content or run channels yet. You are trying to decide who Stagebuilder should target, what those buyers are already trying to solve, and which assumptions deserve to be challenged.

I think that order is right for a founder-funded consulting business. A weak ICP would make every content decision noisier.

The page lays out how I would approach the research, positioning, channel choices, and 60-90 day content plan so you can judge fit quickly.
