Hi Casey,

Before a new client's first static ads are ready, I'd check whether the offer and brand assets are in hand and the Facebook and Instagram access is working. That gives you a chance to clear launch blockers before the client is waiting on footage, while keeping the strategist's work focused on creative and onboarding.

I'd also write down what makes an ad ready for the media buyer to test. That gives both roles a clear handoff as each client moves from kickoff to launch.
