

2 September

Hello Alder Group Solutions / team,

You already have Claude connected to JobTread and QuickBooks, so the real issue is not starting from zero. It is building the workflow layer that turns scattered inquiries into tracked JobTread records and useful internal automation.

I agree with your note that this should not be a learn-on-the-job build. The risk is not just the agent reply, it is missed leads, bad routing, weak logging, and a setup your small team cannot maintain.

I put the short plan below this note so you can judge fit from the work.

Allen