Hi Richard,

You are hiring for a configuration-and-testing job, not a design project. The important part is making GHL follow MilfordMD's prompt, guardrails, routing rules, and acceptance scripts without adding hidden dependencies.

My plain opinion: the build should stay native in GHL unless there is a clear reason to introduce an external service, especially with audio, transcripts, contact data, and ownership terms involved.

A short plan is below the note. It covers how I would handle the agent, weave routing, testing, documentation, pricing, and the fit check.
