Hi Michel,

Before changing listings, I'd make a simple table with each platform's current name, the proposed WILD/FIRE BURGERS name, and whether it can retain the existing profile and reviews. That would give us a sequence for the migration and show where a platform-specific check is needed before anything is edited.

I'd also mark which changes depend on the restaurant's real-world branding, since your brief says the digital migration should be coordinated with it. That keeps the review-preservation goal in view as the name changes roll out.
