Hi Ericka,

The core risk here is not just building Circle spaces. It is making sure a purchase reliably turns into the right access, tags, redirects, permissions, and course enrollments without someone on your team manually fixing the path.

I also would not treat the handoff as an afterthought. If BWT needs to lightly maintain this after launch, the setup has to be simple enough to explain and documented well enough to trust.

A short plan is below the note.
